

American Dental Hygienists' Association

Mentors

ADHA is fortunate to have had many strong leaders who brought commitment and determination to their roles. When queried many state that they believe they took away more than they gave, particularly in the realm of leadership skills developed during their tenures as ADHA leaders. The individuals listed here have all served ADHA and many are still doing so. While they are listed for a particular office, many have served in more than one capacity. They are happy to share their experiences and welcome your inquiries, initially via email.
